LEIPZIG, Germany – born and grown up

BERLIN, Germany – current home

DESIGNER – current occupation

INTRO

I am a designer currently working for attoma – a small agency with offices in Berlin, Milan and Paris.

Besides my mother always telling me that I'll live at home till I am 25, I left my hometown with 18 to go to study design in Italy. Since then I went back to Germany for family visits – obviously – and an one-year break between my studies to get work-experience. In December 2013 I got my dual master degree in Visual Design at the Scuola Politecnica di Milano and IULM Milano. After that work brought me back to Germany – Berlin. I still want to gain much more diverse insights on design and develop further and I am curious about new experiences and challenges.
